Dear Sirs/Mesdames:

Re: Copyright Infringement by distancelearningsite.com

I understand that American search engines are required to comply with The Digital Millennium Copyright Act and am writing to report an illegal copying of my website by a website that is now appearing in your search engine database.

I am the owner of an exclusive right to World Wide Learn, a website at <http://www.worldwidelearn.com>, of whose copyright is being infringed by a website at <http://www.distancelearningsite.com>. Each page at <http://www.worldwidelearn.com> is clearly marked that it is under copyright protection.

The website at <http://www.distancelearningsite.com> is an illegal reproduction of my site at <http://www.worldwidelearn.com> and the owner of this <http://www.distancelearningsite.com> site has illegally copied HTML code, content and pages from my site at <http://www.worldwidelearn.com>.

I have good faith belief that use of HTML code, text, content and pages from <http://www.worldwidelearn.com> is not authorized by myself, the owner; nor by an agent, nor by the law.

I have initiated legal proceedings against <http://www.distancelearningsite.com>, including a Cease & Desist letter requesting they remove their site.
