

Hi,

Your webmaster said I should contact you about an image of mine that is coming up first on your image search pages from a spanish site which does not have permission to use it. He said I should use the following format to request removal from the site - or preferably re-attribute it to my site using the following url:

<http://www.richard-cooke.com/harriers/previewpages/previewpage1.htm> .

The

picture on my web site is a lower resolution, vertical crop of the picture but it is exactly the same one. There is only one picture like this in the world and I took it.

This is NOT my site and does not have my permission to use this picture.
