Sirs;

I require your immediate help concerning another website that has stolen our page copy and despite written and repeated verbal warnings to one [REDACTED] owner, as well as our supplying him with a copy writer to make the changes, they have refused to remove our copy. Our URL is:
<http://www.losangelesprintingcompany.com>. The URL that has illegally used our copy is:
<http://www.cereusgraphics.com>.

They have stolen copy from several of our pages including my home page, <http://www.losangelesprintingcompany.com/default.htm>. I am attaching a comparison herein for your convenience.

I have a good faith belief that the disputed use is not authorized by the copyright or intellectual property owner, my self, its agent, or the law.

I swear under penalty of perjury, consistent with U.S. Code Title 17, 512, that the above information in this Notice is accurate and that I am the copyright or intellectual property owner of the copy on my website.

Please kindly look into this at once and I ask that you delete their offending pages from your database.

Thank you
